The Internet could be a very positive step towards education, organization and participation in a meaningful society. I agree with this quote, but the Internet may not always play a good role. Many people use the Internet not for good purposes, but for some fraudulent purposes.

Firstly, the Internet helps to develop in all directions. You can use literature from the Internet to read for free. You can watch various educational films and videos. And much more.

Secondly, thanks to the Internet, we learn a lot of information, for example, news. You will always be aware of recent events. 53

As an argument for my statement, I will give examples from my experience. Thanks to the Internet, I am preparing for final exams by going through various webinars and solving tests. Also, thanks to the Internet, I watch various films on different topics - self-development, personality and much more. It ~~helps~~ helps me to develop my intelligence. 56

Summing up the above, I can say for sure that the Internet helps us a lot in various life situations. Many peoples say that the Internet is only evil, but it's not so. Yes, some people use the Internet for bad purposes, but these are only a few.
